ECUADOR

Since 1990 MALIMA® has been the main grower and exporter of fresh cut flowers in the South of Ecuador.

We believe in balance.

- Innovation: in our processes
- Quality: in our products
- Responsibility: social and environmental

Innovating every day

Constant agricultural and technological innovations that we invest in all our processes, have made us the most specialized gypsophila grower in Ecuador.

Recognized Quality

The renowned year-round consistent quality of Malima's flowers stems from our deliberate choice to select only the best plants to grow, and then following strict procedures that guarantee our flowers have unmatched characteristics including overall health, structure, strength, uniform flower opening and long vase life.

Environmentally friendly processes

We are one of the most environmentally conscious farms, constantly achieving reduction of chemicals and water used in our processes. For example, due to our investments, we've been able to significantly reduce the amount of water we use in our postharvest process (we're now using 60,000 liters less per week than we used in 2017)
